

2023 Alabama History Institutes: Grades 1-4

Sowing the Seed of Dothan's Agricultural Legacy

Troy University-Dothan Campus, Dothan
June 27-29, 2023

Amber Broadhead, Homewood City Schools
Lora Haghighi, Homewood City Schools
Dr. Marty Olliff, Troy University-Dothan

The influence of Alabama's farming heritage extends far beyond the borders of our state. Participants in this institute will gain a deeper understanding of the people and places that have contributed to Alabama's agricultural success. They will also learn more about the history of Dothan and its important role in shaping our state's economy. This institute will include engaging, interactive field trips, special presentations from expert speakers, and hands-on opportunities to learn more about incorporating primary sources into the classroom.
