World War I through the Local Lens of the Shoals

Kennedy-Douglas Center for the Arts, Florence
June 18-20, 2024

Sarah Ingersoll, Florence City Schools
Megan Smith-Keenum, Florence City Schools
Dr. Carrie Barske-Crawford, Muscle Shoals National Heritage Area

World War I changed Alabama's economy and society. Through the lens of the Shoals area's history, this workshop will focus on engaging with primary sources specific to the war and the period of peace that followed. Expert speakers, rich resources, and unique field trips will heighten participants' understanding of the era and the important contributions of this region of our state to the war effort. They will leave with a wealth of new ideas and strategies to implement in their classrooms.
